The terms "Banking Committee" and "Mitigation Bank Review Team" are defined in the interagency procedures agreement as follows:

Banking Committee: A group of one principal representative from each appropriate State and Federal regulatory or resource agency and may also include ex-officio agency representatives, members of environmental organizations, and other participants. The primary purpose of the committee is the establishment and periodic review of this Memorandum of Agreement, policies for defining bank credits and debits, and the State strategy for mitigation siting and off-site mitigation.

Mitigation Bank Review Team (MBRT): The interagency group of Federal, State, or local regulatory and resource agency representatives whose agencies are signatory to a banking instrument and monitor the establishment, use and operation of a mitigation bank.

Note: The committee voted on March 5, 1997, to revise the membership definition by replacing "Environmental Organizations" and "Other" categories with "local governments and/or tribes." This change was made in consideration of the Federal Advisory Committees Act and to facilitate NMFS participation with the MBRT.
